EMBARKING/DISEMBARKING THE HELICOPTER:

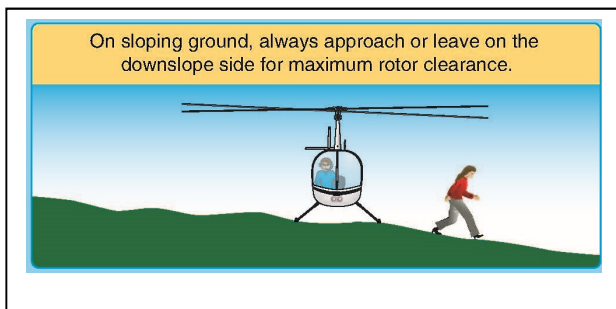

It is important that all passengers understand the pre-flight briefing. The instructions given during the briefing, educate you on the procedures to follow during your helicopter experience and are designed to keep you safe at all times. Please follow these instructions for your own safety around helicopters.

PAY ATTENTION TO THE PRE-FLIGHT BRIEFING.

Before you fly, it's important to know what is expected of you. The pilot and/or staff will tell you when and how to enter and exit the helicopter, they are there to ensure your safety but can only do so with your cooperation.

BEWARE OF THE ROTORS- DO NOT APPROACH FROM BEHIND

- Wait for the crews signal before moving toward the aircraft.
- Approach the helicopter from the front or sides only! Never approach the helicopter from the rear and stay in front of the rear doors at all times.
- Stand low in a crouch as you approach a helicopter on level ground that has its rotors turning.

KEEP TRACK OF LIGHT AND LOOSE ITEMS.

- Securing your personal belongings is important.
- Lightweight items can blow away as you near the helicopter.
- Let an item go if it flies out of your hands. You could get hurt if you try to chase it.

EXIT & ENTER WITH SAFETY IN MIND.

- Always depart the helicopter in the same direction you entered it, from the front or side, and make sure it is in the safety zones described above.
- Remember NOT to wave your arms, jump, or lift anything over your head, and keep all loose personal items secure.

Doors, Seat Belts and Headsets Ensure that safety belt is secure before takeoff.

WEATHER

For your safety and the best experience possible, we do not fly in thunderstorms, snow storms, or conditions which produce low-visibility. We want you to have a safe and enjoyable experience when you fly with us, therefore if your flight will be unsafe due to weather or your view of Michigan will be hindered due to low visibility, we will contact you as early as possible to reschedule your tour. If your flight is rescheduled due to weather there is no additional charge.
